Juniors Dance Patriotically In Gym Tonite

Tonight at 8:30 the juniors will lightly trip to the music of the Auburn Plainsmen in the patriotically decorated gymnasium. Through an enormous improvised "V" the lasses will lead out, and then go into a few steps to accentuate the "V" formation.

The date list includes: Elizabeth Kelly, Wall Thompson; Sue Landrum, David Wade; Mildred Kidd, Morris Easley; Jo Ellis, Ted Dunn; Kathleen Youmans, Tinley Scott; Patsy Malcom, Wallace Richter; Helen Dunn, John Con-

Girls Attend Presbyterian Conference

Members of the local PSA will go to Athens to attend the third annual convention of the Presbyterian Student Association, which will be held on the University campus, February 27, 28, March 1. Friday night the convention will open with an informal banquet. Later in the evening there will be a fellowship hour which will be lead by the GSCW delegates. An evening devotion will follow.

Saturday's highlights are to be two addresses by Dr. Wm. M. Elliott, Jr., Atlanta, and discussion groups. Sunday there will be the regular morning services and after dinner the new officers will be installed. A communion service at 3:15 will close the convention.

A large delegation is expected to go from GSCW. All those interested in going, please see Rachel Irvine by Tuesday.

Students Work Behind Scenes

The work on "Rebecca" is progressing rapidly through the combined efforts of the production staff and cast making a total of ninety members. The play will be ready for dress rehearsal Monday and Thursday night will see the culmination of all these weeks of work put out by the production committee and cast.

Mary Brewton is working as assistant director and Frances Jane Hatfield is stage manager.

The set represents the great Hall of Manderley. Credit for its creation goes to the Stage Crew headed by Mary Lou Laidler. Others working in this department are: Anne Hammert, Jo Anne Bivins, Mary Zelma Gillis, Thelma Brodrick, Ella Ruth Thompson, Martha Coleman, Louise Adams, Frankie Adams, Henrietta Amis, Elizabeth Colson, Frances Simpson, Carolyn Smith, Elizabeth Powell, Jane Simpson, Maybess Murphy, Elizabeth Branch, Jane Garrett, Martha Edwards, Frances Jane Hatfield, Helen Crosby, Jeanne Peterson, Helen Davis, Jane Bowden and Jane Harrell.

The lights committee, of which Blanche Muldrow is chairman, is composed of Theima Brodrick, and Marlan Stewart.

Winifred Stokes heads the make-up committee assisted by Juanita Pitts, Jane Simpson, Mary B. Tucker, Marlan Browne, Marjorie Stowers, Margaret Estes, Mary Nell Veal, Henrietta Amis, Edythe Trapnell, Jeanne McGill, Margaret Peacock, Anne Baker, Elizabeth Colson, and Lena Bowers.

Nominees for 5 Offices Announce Platform

Nominees for the office of president of the leading campus student organizations; College Government Association, Recreation and Young Women's Christian Association, Saturday outlined their platforms to the voters

These and other platforms not appearing in THE COLONNADE will be given in chapel Monday, February 23.

Louise Faver, presidential candidate, presents her five point platform:

1. Do all that is possible to regain the lost standing in all the Accredited Agencies: Southern Association of Accredited Colleges and Universities; Pi Gamma Mu—National Social Science Honor Society; Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities; Alpha Psi Omega—national honorary society for dramatics; and others. Aid in helping the other colleges in the state in regaining their lost positions.

2. All out Honor System for juniors and seniors. Senior College Residences Codes; with separate housing for juniors and sophomores.

3. Effort to better student-faculty relationships.

4. Cooperation in the National Defense Emergency Programs.

5. Create and uphold the spirit of GSCW for those on the campus and the future classes to come.

Betty Jordan, candidate for CGA president, advocates in her platform:

1. To make CGA a living organization for every girl on the campus.

2. To continue working toward the three objectives set up by CGA for 1941-42:

a. To promote scholarship.

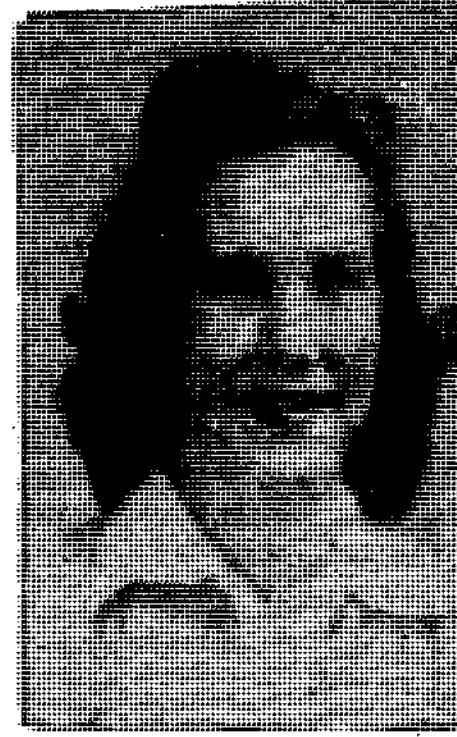

b. To develop an appreciation of the arts.

c. To promote good manners in every phase of campus life.

3. To cooperate with the honor system, the YWCA, and the Recreation Association in every way possible.

4. To do our part in National

The World This Week

BY DOROTHY MANN

This column is sponsored by the GSCW chapter of the International Relations Club.

Some "experts" have predicted that the United States and England will lose almost all of their battles for a year and a half, and then the tide will change. The only bright spot really does seem to be Russia's success so far. Singapore has fallen. The battle for the Netherlands East Indies began in earnest, even before the battle of Singapore was finished, when the Japanese attacked the oil refining center of Palembang in Sumatra.

This time last week Singapore had not fallen. By this time next week much can happen. After the East Indies, Australia will probably be Japan's next goal.

Another disconcerting fact is that the two German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, and the cruiser Prinz Eugen have escaped from Brest. It had been reported that the British had damaged them too much to be moved, but they did move. Last Thursday afternoon the big war ships steamed out into the murky waters of the English Channel under the cover of a dense fog. Many complications may arise from this escape. This means more ships against the Allies' Atlantic shipping. As a result too, Prime Minister Churchill is being severely criticized by his people for not getting new cabinet officials.

At the same time a part of our government is being criticized here. Congress decided while it was possible they would provide for optional old age insurance for themselves. Other people think this is a very bad example to set before the country. Chances are now at least 50-50 that legislation calling for Congressional "pensions" will be repealed.

Necessity is the mother of some strange plans at this time. The army and navy are once more seriously looking into the possibilities of using dirigibles as plane carriers and long-range patrol craft. It is being kept very hush-hush but the army and navy are also going ahead with plans for large-scale construction of underground hangars in the coastal areas. The plan for registering now includes all men who reached their twentieth birthday before December 31 and those who will not be forty-five by Monday, February 17. Ivan Allen, Sr., accepted the post of state rationing director of sugar. Sugar rationing will really begin late in March. These plans come one on the heels of the other, and we may expect many more in the near future.

Plans are being made in Europe too. Last week Vichy, France and Italy made an agreement. Italy is supposed to waive claims to the Jibute railroad, Nice, and Corsica, to release all her 187 French war prisoners, and to take some of the 25,000,000 francs in French assets frozen when Italy entered the war. France is supposed to lend Italy what she has left of these frozen French assets. Germany is making sure that a great deal of propaganda gets to Mexico. In fact Germany is probably behind Cousin Molly, who wants to know if your Mother's home "No, she isn't. She's at Mrs. Smith's."

Among all of the war-consciousness, there are many education-minded individuals. Lewis Mumford says, "Save the seed corn." He proposed selecting on a nation-wide basis the best students between sixteen and twenty-four to continue their education so that it will not be sacrificed to war. The Progressive Education Association reports on eight years' work in 30 experimental high schools. Colleges now agree that students from these schools have done work superior to that of students from ordinary high schools. Miss English of our own campus is now in San Francisco attending a conference of this Association. She is one of the two women serving on its national advisory committee for curriculum and procedure.

Necessity is the mother of some strange plans at this time. The army and navy are once more seriously looking into the possibilities of using dirigibles as plane carriers and long-range patrol craft. It is being kept very hush-hush but the army and navy are also going ahead with plans for large-scale construction of underground hangars in the

A Democratic Practice

BY JEWELL WILLIE

In a democratic country such as ours each citizen is given the right to vote for his leaders. There are many people who are too ignorant to see the value of their vote and do not take advantage of the opportunity.

Although the results of nominations are being announced daily for campus offices it seems that there are students who have not made use of their chance to hand in nominations. Elections will be held next Tuesday. This is a time to practice democratic principles on our campus. The girls elected will run campus activities next year. To have an efficient organization the leaders must be good.

College Government, YWCA, and Recreation Association include all students as members. Just council, cabinet or board cannot make them a success. It requires every student to take an interest in the organization.

If you're curled up under the lamp with a perfectly gruesome, gory, kill-em-off and decide to take the instant buzz in your ears. After fifteen minutes of such nerve racking tortures you decide to answer it after all. Then there's nobody there.

Perhaps it's sleeting outside and you've decided to do your nails. Just when you've applied the last coat of "Black Mask" there is a ring. You jump a mile and snatch up the receiver. It's Cousin Molly, who wants to know if your Mother's home "No, she isn't. She's at Mrs. Smith's."

We are being asked to offer topics as well as all other Georgians. In college we feel that we keep up with current events and world trends. Vital questions in the minds of people today are being answered in magazines, newspapers, and on the radio.

This program will be broadcast from Atlanta. It is a privilege to have a national program and outstanding speakers for the occasion, and we, as students, can name the topic to be discussed.

What questions would you like answered by authorities on current affairs?

Opportunity Offered

Georgia college students are being given an opportunity of suggesting subjects for discussion for the radio program, "America's Town Meeting of the Air."

The book is quite a release from so many of the grim stories of the war we have been having lately and Miss Thrillik gives another of her interesting accounts of how "Cheerfulness Breaks In" in even the grimiest situation. For a few hours of light reading you will find NORTHRIDGE RECTORY most enjoyable.

By special request, I give the following poem:

Old Man Moses shot a skunk;
Mamma Moses cooked a skunk;
Baby Moses ate a skunk;
Golly Moses how it stunk!

With this masterpiece I leave you until next week at this same time.

Facts and traditions in the history of their own college have been furnished to Hollins college students of creative writing as material for advanced composition work.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It is possible that the idea will dawn on those authorities who "say so" that we good Americans need education in American defense economy as well as in first aid, home nursing and so forth?

The majority of us college students grovel blindly for facts about the country's preparation for war, the best-known methods of adopting needed defense policies and post-war planning. We aren't saying that the facts about defense economies are not available, we are saying that this information should be made available in extra courses taught by competent professors. Surely colleges, if not communities should consider this possibility of "Defense Education."

Quotables Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"Throughout the world the sun's varying position, and the consequent system of seasons, and the planetary circulation of the atmosphere, have resulted in zones with a general east-west trend. Climatic conditions, flora and fauna follow parallel bands from east to west. This zoning is significant in the lives of men as well, and man is not immune to the potent influence of these planetary factors. In human affairs there is a strong tendency toward the same zoning along parallels of latitude and a strong tendency toward disunity along the meridians. North-south lines are weaker than those from east to west. Cleavage tends to take place along lines of parallels. Political dissatisfaction between north and south is more common than between east and west. North is north and south is south, and never the twain shall meet" is probably true than the more familiar form of Kipling's phase.

Our own national history gives us one of many examples of cleavage along these lines; so also does that of China, Ireland, and the European continent as a whole. One need not have much fear, or hope, of long life for the Rome-Berlin Axis; it stretches across too many degrees of latitude." Dr. George M. McBride, professor of geography at the University of California, says geography alone dooms the Axis

Defense.

Edythe Trapnell, candidate for president of YWCA, in her statement to the student body says:

I believe that the 1942-43 year can accomplish much in being not program conscious literally, but program conscious as it relates to the individual. In the months to come, more than ever before in our college careers, we will find need of developing in each student a sound philosophy of life and a strict sense of values that will stand the test. Only in this way can we be sure of mental poise and stability during the present crisis. This purpose can be adequately fulfilled by four means:

1. The Y clubs, which have made such a good beginning this

White Speaks At Faculty Dinner

In honor of Miss Alice Napier and Dr. J. L. Beeson, a formal dinner was given in the Mansion last Tuesday, February 17, at eight o'clock. Present and former members of the faculty and representatives of the four classes and major organizations were among those present.

Dr. Earl Walden, head of the Mathematics and Science Division of the Liberal Arts School, presided at the dinner and introduced the speaker, Dr. Goodrich White, vice-president of Emory and Dean of the Graduate School. Dr. White's topic was "Fifty years of teaching." In his talk he stressed the progress of science in this last half-century, and also the continuous effort to "build up" by teachers while the world and its rulers seem to strive to "break down."

Dr. Sara Nelson, a one-time student of Miss Napier's and her only Ph. D. in Mathematics, presented her with a gift from the faculty and friends. It was an easy chair, reading lamp and end table.

To Dr. Beeson, Miss Jessie Trwick, a student and assistant of his for many years, presented a radio, also a gift from the faculty and friends. As Dr. Beeson's interests go so far beyond the field of Chemistry a radio, only, seemed the appropriate gift. With this was given a subscription to Radio Guide and a small table for a stand.

During the evening Mrs. Edgar Long and Miss Beatrice Horsbrough provided music, accompanied by Miss Maggie Jenkins and Mrs. W. H. Allen. Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wardlow, Mrs. White, and Mr. Harvey E. Pafford former Professor of English here.

The evening closed with the singing of our Alma Mater.

In the absence of the editor associate editor, managing editor, business manager, and faculty advisor, in fact in the absence of everybody that's of any importance, except our indispensable typists, and reporters, the remainder of the Colonade staff succeeded in getting out one more issue, such as it is, of the Colonade, b'gosh.

What happens to a college guest after a trip to New York and a $200 cash award for appearing on Fred Allen's radio hour?

Well, at latest reports all of the 16 or 17 who have already appeared have returned to their respective colleges or universities, and a good time was had by all.

But the story isn't over at this point.

Nearly every one of the students has won the attention of either radio officials or movie talent scouts, and one of them had the remarkable experience of being called to the White House for a "command performance."

Back of the story is Fred's personal insistence that no one drop his planned course of study for the ephemeral possibilities of a career in Hollywood, on Broadway, or over the radio.

the meeting and its sponsoring agency, the people of the state are being asked to select the questions to be discussed. GSCW students can make their nomination by using the blank appearing in this issue of The Colonnade.

Speakers, to be chosen later, will be nationally known authorities competent to discuss the subjects selected.

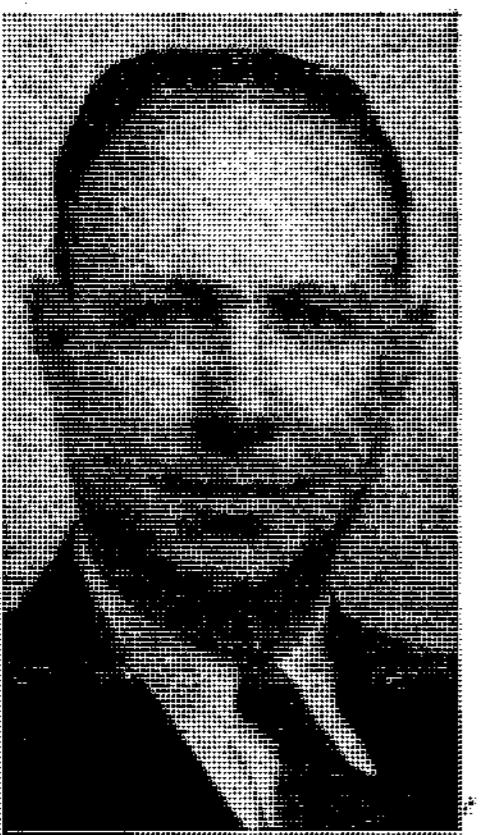

The Georgia meeting will be broadcast from the city auditorium over an hour's long network hookup of NBC. Admission to the meeting will be by tickets available without charge to anyone on request, Mr. Brumby said.

No cut-and-dried harangue, the Town Meeting is dynamic proof that discussion of a serious subject can be as exciting as a prize fight. Authorities clash on national issues on which the American people have not yet made up their minds with the audience given every opportunity to hit a lick for either side.

"For months we have been trying to secure a broadcast from Georgia of America's Town Meeting," and Mr. Brumby, "and we are gratified that Atlanta is included among its tour cities this year. Millions of Americans have made this program their own and have organized thousands of town meeting discussion groups around it in homes, clubs, churches, schools and colleges. Through the miracle of radio they meet together each week in a great nationwide town meeting."

"Such meetings are more than ever important now in order to provide first hand information by competent authorities on problems facing the country," Mr. Brumby emphasized.

"Through these meetings we can keep clear the channels of orderly exchange of opinion and promote American unity through understanding," he said. "The free discussion method characterizes democracy everywhere. While we arm and fight we must at the same time, and as part of the same process, see to it that the America we are fighting for keeps

Mrs. Dull To Be Featured On Radio

The fourth in a series of radio plays portraying the lives of famous Georgians over WMAZ each Tuesday at 7:30, Eastern War Time, will be the story of Mrs. S. R. Dull of Atlanta. This play next Tuesday will tell how a Southern woman glorifies an art which had been considered a drudgery. Mrs. Dull, who both in her writing and through her cooking schools, held from Florida to Delaware, has given to the women of the South a greater appreciation of the culinary art and at the same time a release from the drudgery of the kitchen. She has been named one of Georgia's 12 greatest women. Her book, "Southern Cooking," has also made the "best seller" list.

The cast for the play Tuesday night will include:

Mrs. S. R. Dull—Miss Clara Morris

Visitor—Mrs. Lynwood Smith

Mrs. Dull as a seventeen-year-old girl—Jeanne Peterson

Young Wife—Mary Jeff Welchell

Club News

The Math club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary MacMillan at 201 Clark street. The meeting was a social and games and contests made up the program.

The Sophomore Y will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock. The discussion of "What's Right and What's Wrong" will be continued.

New senior advisors for the various groups within the Home Ec club were appointed at the executive meeting Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Group II, Lydia Standard and Virginia Bankston.

Group III, Martha Garner and Marian Adair.

Group IV, Sarah Vaughn and Gene Morris.

Group V, Agnes Cronie and Harriet Benson.

Guild Singers Give First Concert Sun.

The Aolian Guild under the direction of Miss Anna Fredda Carstens is in its sixth season. The Guild will sing this weekend, February 21-22, in Louisville and Sandersville. Sixty of the girls will go on these weekend trips. The accompanist this year is Ann Morrison. Jo Anne Bivins is assistant director.

A La Mode

And so, everyone dresses up and goes off for a long home-going weekend. Naturally, since Jim or John, or Bob, or Teddy will be at the bus station, one must wear her very best outfit!

Mary Ellen Flatt was, as usual, dressed appropriately and beautifully. Her teal blue herringbone tweed suit had a pleated skirt and a torso-length jacket with a big pocket on each side. With this, she wore a teal heather round-necked sweater.

Emily Cook's teal blue tweed coat has fitted lines and a red fox collar. There is one deep box pleat in the center back.

Virginia Langford left the campus in a deep powder blue suit of lightweight wool. The skirt has two deep pleats, one in center front and the other in center back. The torso length jacket was made more interesting by the large dramatic pockets.

However, there are some of us who don't get away for long weekends, but we never fail to get to classes, if we do or don't have a weekend.

Just on Wednesday, I saw Lucy Neil Cunningham in a sky-blue corduroy skirt and a light brown slip-over with long sleeves.

Sue Landrum sometimes wears a green lightweight wool jumper. She has a tan long-sleeved shirt which looks very good with it.

On Monday, Jo Anne Bivins looked very neatly dressed in a blue and yellow pastel plaid skirt with a jacket of the blue pastel. The sleeves of the jacket are of that close knit which is so popular this year.

Have you seen Mary Bagwell Tucker's white gold ring which has a tiny pearl dangling on it.

Time marches on, and girls don't need to know about ties, but I saw a very interesting one the other day. Mr. Luecker wears a white and yellow diagonal curved design on it.

I'll tell you all about the Junior's dresses next week!

LUMINOUS SOLUTION applied to this smart white straw hat worn by Columbia native's Lauren ("Dr. Christian") Tucker makes it sparkle in the sun. It is Marjorie Sutcliffe's contribution to the annual fashion show.

Marjorie's contribution includes her hat, a white and yellow plaid skirt and a jacket of the same plaid.

Her short white plaid gloves are Marjorie's own creation.

VIRGINIA COLLAR OF WHO'S WHO TO BE MARCH BRIDE

By CATHERINE FOSTER

This week we are happy to present pretty Virginia Collar as a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. At the present Virginia says she is a bit scatterbrained as the day of her wedding to Professor Marion Clark draws near. Mr. Clark teaches chemistry at Emory at Oxford and the couple plan to be married in March.

Virginia's home is Atlanta and she has five brothers and one sister. Her hobbies are collecting poetry, sewing, especially embroidery, and listening to good music. She plays the piano for her own enjoyment.

At GSCW she has taken an active part in school activities. For two years she was representative to council and for three years she has served on Honor Board. Since she is majoring in English and Latin, she has naturally been interested in the Classical Guild, of which she is now president. Among her other activities have been Cotillion club and chairman of Judiciary.

When her friends were asked their opinion of Virginia they replied that "she was good company, had a nice disposition, was very intellectual and very attractive." Virginia says chocolate cake is her favorite and although she isn't very athletic she likes to bowl, walk and go exploring. She also likes to work cross-word puzzles and loves to dance. When asked what she thought of the war time, she replied, "It doesn't bother me, except in bus schedules and I really get an extra hour of sleep. I go to bed at the same time and get up an hour later."

Virginia has brown hair and hazel eyes.

"My son's letters from college always send me to the dictionary."

"You're lucky! My son's letters always send me to the bank!"

Sometimes one fails to make the distinction between free speech and cheap talk.

I'm disgusted with the war. Not one of my teachers has wasted five minutes talking about it.

Doctor: "So you use three pair of glasses, professor?"

Prof.: "Yes, one for long sight, one for short sight, and the third pair to look for the other two."

QUOTEABLE QUOTES

"The last war brought about the teaching of health and physical education in the schools. This war may bring about a new pattern of physical fitness for all of society. The startling and sometimes shocking findings of the medical boards, plus the fact that many men from sections without recreational facilities will become accustomed to regular recreational facilities in the army and on furlough, should revolutionize our whole attitude toward physical fitness." —Dr. George M. Gross, associate professor of health and physical education at Louisiana State University, foresees a new national emphasis on physical fitness.

"Japan is at war with the United States and Great Britain because her aggression policy had cost her some 75 per cent of her normal imports and because her economic life was bound up with the nations blockading her. Thus Japan is in a state of economic as well as military siege, and she is extremely vulnerable in both respects." —Dr. William O. Scroggs, dean of the graduate school at Louisiana State University says Japan, of all nations was the one that needed most to live under peaceful terms with the rest of the world.

TO A POST OFFICE INKWELL

How many humble hearts have dipped in you, and scrawled their manuscript! Have shared their secrets, told their cares. Their curious and quaint affairs! Your pool of ink, your scratchy pen, Have moved the lives of unborn men, And watched young people, breathing hard, Put Heaven on a postal card.

Coach Baker: "No, you mustn't smoke. Men who smoke get tobacco heart, and men who drink too much coffee get coffee heart."

Hopper: "If I eat lots of sweet things will I get a sweetheart?"

Wisdom: Those who go to college and never get out are called professors.

How about that, faculty?

ALKALINE SIDE

Three men visited a bar. "I'll have a coke," said the first. The bartender turned to the second one. "I'll have an orange-ade" was the order. The bartender turned to the third who said, "And I'll just have a glass of water. You see, I'm driving."

Marcus M.: "What's the matter, J. W.? You look tired."

J. W.: "I am. I've been all over the campus looking for a guy named 'Fragile.'

Miss Reed: "Who was the smallest man in history?"

Frank Howell: "The Roman soldier at St. Paul's prison, mam."

Miss R.: "What makes you say that?"

F. H.: "He went to sleep on his watch."

Joe: "I used to think—"

Moe: "What made you stop?"
